600 Library Collections

600.1 Statement of Guiding Principles for Library Collections

1. Intellectual Freedom

The Castlegar & District Public Library Board endorses the Statement on Intellectual Freedom of the Canadian Library Association. It does not interpret its function nor that of its administrators to be the supervisor of public morals, nor does it act “in loco parentis” because it is the prerogative of parents to develop, interpret and enforce their own code of acceptable conduct upon their own household.

2. The Canadian Library Association Policy on Intellectual Freedom

All persons in Canada have the fundamental right, as embodied in the nation’s Bill of Rights and the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, to have access to all expressions of knowledge, creativity and intellectual activity, and to express their thoughts publicly. This right to intellectual freedom, under the law, is essential to the health and development of Canadian society.

Libraries have a basic responsibility for the development and maintenance of intellectual freedom.

It is the responsibility of libraries to guarantee and facilitate access to all expressions of knowledge and intellectual activity, including those which some elements of society may consider to be unconventional, unpopular or unacceptable. To this end, libraries shall acquire and make available the widest variety of materials.

It is the responsibility of libraries to guarantee the right of free expression by making available all the library’s public facilities and services to all individuals and groups who need them.

Libraries should resist all efforts to limit the exercise of these responsibilities while recognizing the right of criticism by individuals and groups.

Both employees and employers in libraries have a duty, in addition to their institutional responsibilities, to uphold these principles.

3. British Columbia Library Association Statement of Intellectual Freedom

It is in the public interest for libraries and librarians to make available the widest diversity of views and expression, including those which are unorthodox or unpopular with the majority.

It would conflict with the public interest for libraries to establish their own political, moral or aesthetic views as the sole standard for determining what books and other materials should be published and circulated.

It is contrary to the public interest for libraries and librarians to determine the acceptability of a book solely on the basis of the personal history or political affiliation of the author.

There is no place in British Columbia for extra-legal efforts to coerce the taste of others, to confine adults to the reading matter deemed suitable for adolescents, or to inhibit the efforts of the writers to achieve artistic expression.

It is not in the public interest to force a reader to accept with any book the prejudgment of a label characterizing the book or author as subversive or dangerous.

It is the responsibility of library administrators and librarians, as guardians of the people's freedom to read, to contest encroachments upon the freedom by individuals or groups to impose their own standards or tastes upon the community at large.

It is the responsibility of libraries and librarians to give full meaning to intellectual freedom by providing books and other materials that enrich the quality of thought and expression. By the exercise of this affirmative responsibility, librarians can demonstrate that the answer to a bad book is a good one, the answer to a bad idea is a good one.

Non-book materials should be judged by the same criteria as books.

Adopted: April 11, 2005

601.1 Collection Development

1. Material Selection Criteria
 - a. The Castlegar & District Public Library provides a wide range of library materials as efficiently and as economically as possible.

- b. In accordance with its goals and philosophy the Castlegar & District Public Library matches its collections to the needs and interests of the community. The library has a responsibility to foster interest as well as to sustain it.
- c. While demand is an important criterion in most selection decisions, other equally important criterion are existing library holdings, relevance to the community, verity, readability and the quality of presentation.
- d. Applying these criteria, the professional staff shall select materials from reviews and bibliographies, from patrons' requests and through personal knowledge and inspections.
- e. The Castlegar & District Public Library provides materials to support informal education. The library does not provide multiple copies of individual books required for student assignments at formal educational institutions. Textbooks and scholarly materials are purchased only when they are the best or only source of information on the subject.
- f. The collection of materials should be sufficient in supply to render the library a usually dependable source of information for most people outside formal educational institutions.
- g. The Castlegar & District Public Library, recognizing that materials which may be unpopular or offend one person may be acceptable or of merit to another, will provide, as far as possible, materials on all sides of controversial issues, including representations of unpopular or unorthodox positions, without censorship or bias, providing the materials give evidence of a sincere desire to be informative.
- h. Books which present material in a sensational manner and are prejudicial in their treatment of any race, creed, sex, nationality or social group may not be included in the collection.

2. Community Orientation

The Castlegar & District Public Library recognizes its obligations to satisfy the reading needs of a large group of people with varied backgrounds, reading levels, tastes and interests. Bestsellers which do not meet all of the selection criteria may be purchased for the collection.

3. Suggestions from the Public

Suggestions for reconsideration of specific titles will be recorded on the special form provided and the titles in question re-evaluated.

If the criticism is felt to be valid, the title may be removed from the collection; otherwise it will remain. In either case a letter will be sent to the complainant with an explanation of the library's decision.

Suggestions from patrons for purchase of a new title that the patron thinks would be useful for the collection will be evaluated and the purchase made if the title meets the library's guidelines for collection development.

4. Discards

In order to keep the collection useful, the discarding of library materials is as important as the initial selection. Materials which are no longer useful in the light of the objectives of the Castlegar & District Public Library will be systematically weeded from the collection according to accepted professional practices. Other materials may be rebound or replacement copies acquired. Last copies of important titles shall be retained.

5. Replacements

All books to be replaced will be given careful consideration as to their value to the collection as a whole. Replacements will be checked against lists of standard books for later and/or better editions as well as for new titles on the same subject. All last copies to be discarded will be carefully checked before removing them from the collection.

6. Book Sales

Books discarded from the Castlegar & District Public Library may be sold through the book sales organized by the Board and/or Friends of the Library.

7. Canadian, British Columbia and Castlegar & District Materials

The Castlegar & District Public Library recognizes a special obligation to purchase and preserve materials which convey detailed information about Canada, the Province of British Columbia, the community of Castlegar & District and its residents.

- b. Books in Languages other than English

The purpose of the evaluation is to ensure the effectiveness and efficiency of the Library Director in carrying out his/her responsibilities. It serves as a communication device between the Board and library staff and as a mechanism to improve library services by stimulating growth, learning and efficiency and by identifying areas of concern.

The Board wishes to demonstrate its accountability to the community and municipality through such practices as regular performance evaluations.

Further, the evaluation provides a professional record of accomplishment and advancement for the Library Director.
